The Anderson Intelligencer on the Usu Our esteemed cotemporary, of Anderson opposes the restoration of the old usury laws of the State, and speaks of the course of "our city exchanges" with approbation. We have explained the causes, contributing, in our judgment, to the formation of opinions by the papers of large commercial cities different on this question, and the Income Tex, etc., from what is the true interest of the country

We are not surprised at the opinions of the Intelligencer, for we were, for a brief time, without due calculation and reflection, and the experience of the last four or five years, rather favorable to them ourselves; and were influenced by what we now see is an absurdity-We mean the idea that the repeal of the usury laws will bring any great amount of capital into the State. It can bring and has brought none for permanent investment, neither do we believe that it ever will, for conclusive reasons. The manufacturing and permanent agricultural labor, and permanent mercantile pursuits, cannot afford to pay over seven per cent, and hope to make money. Very few can borrow at that and keep up. Neither is ts possible, in our opinion, for a repeal of the neury laws to drive capital out of the State to its damage. Where will it go to? The States all around us, have the same laws. Will it go to the great State of New York? There the laws are more severe against usury than in South Carolina. According to the reasoning of these people, there ought to be no capital in New York or Baltimore, for, alas! they have severe laws against usury; it all ought, according to logic, to come to South Carolina. But it don't come. On the contrary, our capital, with the glorious no usury law system, prevailing since 1866, and the people are leaving the State, and will continue going to Georgia and other Southwestern States, and even New York, where they have the usury laws in full force. And we think it probable, if the people of this State do not rise in their might and cause the Logislature to restore the usury laws for their protection, in spite of our leading city exchanges, that more and more population and capital will leave

We have the consolation of thinking, that although our friend of the Intelligencer is against the Bill of Mr. WILKES on the usury question, yet all the Anderson representation in the House and in the Senate, will give it their hearty support. We have reason to believe that they are men who have seriously reflecteft on the sabject. Esquire WILSON was in the Senate when the Act of 1866 was passed, and opposed it, because he wisely foresay its injurious consequence.

The London Times.

We are indebted to our friend Mr. J. H. MARSHAL, for late numbers of the Times, the most famous of all European newspapers, One is struck with the heading of the first column, "Births," then follows a long daily list of infantile accessions to the English population among 'he gentry and nobilitynext marriage notices, and then deaths. Now where is the of jection to publishing births in a newspaper? They interest every body and especially the wisest and best, If our friends will communicate to us these little accessions to their lamilies, as they occur, we . Il cheerfully publish them, and try to keep up with the Times.

The Times is mostly occupied at present with its very able French correspondence, and the war. We were surprised to see whole columns of French advertisements; many of them are brief letters addressed to WASHBURN, United States Minister at Paris, requesting him to give certain information to persons in that city of their families and triends, who are in London or elsewhere.

The Air-Line Railroad.

We heard a gentleman of high character, officially connected with the Air-Line Railroad, say on Monday, that the road would be finished from Charlotte, N. C., to Greenville in 18 months from this time. The contracts for grading the road are already taken. In the course of a few weeks the work will begin between Greenville and Spartanburg. The prospects of Greenville are encouraging. There will be steadily inereasing population and trade, and rising in the value of lots and land in the entire vicinity and county.

Mount Zion Collegiate Institute, Winns-boro, S. C. Our readers have no doubt observed the advertisement of this school, published last week. We learn that it is established on a high order, all of the gentlemen connected there with being eminently fitted by education, and high culture to make the institute desirable. Mr. G. A. WOODWARD, Principal, is a graduate of the University of Virginia; M. M. FARROW, Associate Principal, is grad uate of South Carolina Military Academy, and J. GLENN McCANTS, First Assistant, is graduate of University of South Carolina, They are highly recommended by several gentlemen of literary distinction. Terms per session, $150, this includes board, wash 19g, fuel, lights, with tuition in all branches

The Situation of France.

Since the surrender of Paris, the Provisional Government has ordered the elections for members of the Assembly, to ratify or reject the Prussian terms of peace. It is gen erally supposed that peace will be made. The army of Bourbaki, has retreated into Switzerland. It is said that several thousand perished with hunger. GAMBETTA is opposed to the terms of peace, but we think the war will close.

Greenville Sixty Years Ago. We received the following from an old gentleman, who does not give his name in

" I stopped in Greenville in 1812 There were at that time four families living in the village. JEREMIAH CLEVELAND kept a tavern and a store; there was one other WASPINGTON EARLE WES clerk and postmas ter. The mail came once a week, John H. Joyce kept boarders and widow Wick-LIFFE also. There was one tin shop, one smith shop, and one lawyer. The doctor lived twelve miles from town."

On the mail route from Greenville to Columbia, W. N. Hoge and J. A. Crews route agents, are removed, and John Shiell

a pecition inferior to the more en-ted and progressive Protestant Iking Austria, Italy, Spain and France, beed deciloing comparatively; the atter more slowly, on account of the infi delity and skepticism towards Rome of the educator classes. The only ideas almost, of literry and progress have been confined in all Roman Catholic kingdom to the scepties. Protestants can believe in the Christian religion and civil liberty also. Whilst in an Catholic governments many educated nen confound Christainity with the papecy and despotism, and hence are infidels, and the common people are blind, fanatical tools of their leaders. Father HYACKNYHE, although Roman Catholic priest, [yet exceptionally able, eloquent and enlightened, and till discountenanced by the Pope the most power ful and eloquent preacher of that denomin-ation,) declared, long before the French and russian war, that the Prussians were supe rior to the other nations on the continent, because they were freely permitted to read the Bible, whilst his Roman Catholic fellow subjects in France and the came sort of copulation in Austria and other Roman Catholic kingdoms, were not allowed, or at least discouraged by that Church and her priests from studying the Bible for them selves. We see that our leading journals of the large cities are attributing German suc ces es over the French, to the difference in race, this that and the other, but the true secret of the difference in nations, peoples and governments, history will demonstrate, is their religion and their forms of church government and discipline; when men come ment in church matters more than traditions ad inventions of men, then enlightened liberty will be secured in civil as well as religious affairs.

These seeds have been imported from England and France. having been grown expressly for the Department of Agriculture; and the object of the distribution is to disseminate new seeds and extend those that have proved of sectional value. We have sent packages to the following gentlemen, who are intelligent and practical farmers. It is expressly desired that they report the results of their experiments for publication :

OR, for $100.

We call the attention of farmers and others to the afvertisements of these gen tlemen, who make the guanno trade a specialty. The Phoenix Guao is a natural guano that they import from the South Pacific Ocean, and their Manipulated Guano is a mixture of No. 1 P an and Phosnix; their Guano, Salt and Plaster Compound, is also a mixture of No. 1 Peruvian and Phonix, Land Plaster and Salt -These articles are sufficiently stimulating to give a plant an active growth. The effect of these fertilizers is not spent in one year, but may be seen in after years.

The prices have been reduced, and are ow to be obtained cheaper than formerly. Those purchasing from agents in the country, pay Charleston prices, with expenses only added.

Our Supplement. This week we issue a Supplement, from which our readers will have the opportunity of reading of the value of the Soluble Pacific Gnano, and Compound Acid Phospate of Lime, of which Mr. J. N. Rosson, of Charleston, is the selling agent for South Carolina. These fertilizers are well known, and our farmers and planters will find in the certifictes published, the practical experience of gentlemen in this and the adjoining States. Testimonials of this character contain information desired much by our people. The prices of the above fertilizers have been redused ten dollars per ton from last season, the Soluble Pacific Guane being now $55 cash or $60 November 1st, approved security with seven per cent. interest; the Compound Acid Phosphate $35 cash or $40 November 1st, same terms.

His thorough and practical knowledge in all the departments of engineering, con-struction, transportation, and machinery of railroads, has given Colonel Dodamend s diservedly high position in his professions and there is no wonder that the Virginia papers speak with regretful terms of the loss of an officer so efficient, and a citizen so valuable. What is their loss however, is our gain, and we congratulate the Greenville and Columbia Railroad on their excellent choice."

Death of Judge W. P. Chitton.

"The Montgomery Journal, of the 21st olt., says :- It is our sad and painful duty to announce the death, at an early hour this morning, of our honored fellow citizen, Judge William P. Chilton. Several weeks ago he met with an accident while coming down the stairway leading from the office of Lehman, Durr & Co, which produced such internal injuries as caused his d-ath-For almost half a century past Judge Chilton has been closely identified with the public interests of our State, and endeared himself to our people by many noble deeds of christian charity, and his able services as one of the Chief Justices of the Surreme Court; and his death will be universally monrned by every good citizen of the State."

Judge Chilton had been for many years a very pious and consistent mem'er of the Baptist Church in . Montgomery. At the time of his death he was Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Alabama. results of general inter-On Wednesday, the 25th ult., the bill de claring martial law, was finally disposed of— only elxican—oring for it. The balance of the week was consumed in an effort to raise, a committee of thirty-one—one from each County—to whom should be referred all matters ouching the furnishing of the hall of the House of Representatives and committee rooms. The carpets, curtains, sofas, chanda-liers, deeks, chairs, spittoons, ac., are all of the most expensive character. The cost of the spittoons is variously estimated at from $8 to $15; the carpet is said to have cost $10,000. Taking all together, I presume it is one of the finest furnished legislative halls in America. The committee rooms, too, are furnished on a scale of equal magnificence and splendor have not had the honor of sitting in any of these, being denied a place on any of the working committees. To give you an idea. bowever, of what constitutes the radical idea of a furnished room, I give you the items of one as reported by the Sergent-at-Arms : Two sofas, I dozen chairs, 11 dozen goblets, bureau, 2 washstands, 2 dozen towels, washbasips and pitchers, combes and brushes tables and hat-racks, spittoons, &c., and all at a very high price. The old furniture also is missing, and, as yet, unaccounted for. The object aimed at in raising so large a committee, was to make it large enough to include Demograts, and too large to be manipulated by the parties interested. The members in trusted in suppressing the investigation, made bold and vigorous resistance at the start, and after a days discussion and parliamentary manœuvering, the resolution was adopted by about three to one. A reconsideration was obtained, and another day consumed. All motions to lay on the table and to postpone. were lost by a like majority. Sunday intervener, and on Monday, a change of opinion ution lost by a decided majority. This is one instance showing how our money goesand how investigation and exposure are evaded. A second instance of the same kind occurs in reference to the appropriation to pay the per diem and milage of the members of the General Assembly and attaches, and incidental expenses. Just before the recess, one bundred and thirty-five thousand dollars was appropriated for this purpose. A few members falling to get their pay before going home, on their return, presented their certificates and were informed that the fund was exhausted .-This was a matter of great astonishment, as the appropriation was meant to cover the costs of the entire session. About ninety thousand dollars has been expended in the way of incidentals and otherwise. A joint committee was appointed to look into the matter and report. With what results, we shall seo.

A joint resolution is now before the Senate for an appropriation of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars miditional, to pay the per diem and incidental expenses. The greater part of Monday was taken up in the funeral obsequies of the Hon. Wade Perrin, member elect from Laurens, who was three months ago. His remains were brought into the ball of the House of Representatives, and his funeral sermon pronounced by a col-ored Bishop of the Methodist Church, whose name I have forgotten. The Speaker assign ed him a place amongst the martyrs of histo ry on the list with Abraham Lincole, John Brown, Randolph and others. After the sermon, the procession moved up main-st., and thence to his final resting place. On Tuesday, after the morning's business, enlogies were pronounced, the usual resolutions were passed, and the House adjourned. Mr. Whipper has ntroduced resolutions providing for the maintainance of the family of the deceased, and the erection of a monument to his memory. There seems to be a mania to create new counties. The House was engaged both Wed-nesday and Thursday, without reaching a decision, in the discussion of a kill the same and the great vegetable specific is constantdecision, in the discussion of a bill to erect a new county to be known by the name of Woodbury-the court house to be located at Aiken composed of sections taken from Edgefield, Barnwell, Orangeburg and Lexington. These are all large counties, and people in the vicinity of Aiken are compelled to go fifty and olicy of Mr. Vickers, receipted. I enclose sixty miles to attend to bussiness connected with the Courts. I hope the bill will pass, but its claims are doubtful. Mr. Perry proposes to make a new county to be called Pendleton, by taking from Anderson, Pickens and Oconee. A third is talked of, having Honse path for the county seat, composed of sections taken from Anderson, Abbeville, Laurens and Greenville-the fourth to be made up by taking territory chiefly from Beaufort

As the session begins to draw towards a close, great railroad schemes begin to loom up. Mr. Tim. Hurley proposes that the Leg-islature shall transfer the aid granted the Blue Ridge Railroad in 1868, viz., (the en-dorsement of four millions of bonds.) to the Greenville & Columbia Railroad Company, and with this to pay the debts of the Blue Ridge Company, to extend the Greenville & Columbia Railroad to Asbeville; the Spar-tanburg & Union Railroad to Rutherfordton, tanburg & Union Railroad to Rutherfordton, and build a road from Abbeville to Washington, Ga. Enough, however, has transpired to show that the Greenville & Columbia Railroad Company will ask the sid of the State to the amount of 4 or 5 millions, independant and irrespective of the securities in the possession of the Blue Ridge Company. No doubt a rieg is already formed to carry the measure through, and it may embrace other roads.—

They may get up an omnibus railroad bill, it matters not how much is asked for, it can be carried through. carried through.

There came up yeaterday majority and minority reports from the Committee on privileges and election, in relation to the contested case from Chesterfield. Messrs. Evans and Hough, the Reform members, were farm isbed certificates of election by the Board of State Canvassers, and held the irseats until yesterday, when they were custed by almost a strictly party wite, upon the alleged ground that intimidation had been employed. Messrs Hough and Evans won their election by overfour hundred votes, and are as justly entitled to their seats as any members on the floor. four hundred votes, and are as justly entitled to their seats as any members on the floor.—
It is said that Littlefield and Singleton who take their seats, were needed to secure the requisite majority to override the Governor's veto of certain railroad measures now on the tapis. The plausibility of this conjecture is strengthened by the fact, that while the case was under discussion, certain officials and large stock holders of the Greenville & Columbia Railroad, were very busy on the floor, taking a very deep interest in it. If the rights and interests of individuals, and whole communities are thus sacrificed contrary to all law and justice, merely to subserve the wild achanest of corporations, what may we not look for?

Littlefield is a Carpet-bagger, and made his first spicarance in Chesterfield hast July as a State constable. He was on hand, and after swearing him in, the House adjourned till Monday at 12 o'clock, m.

ECONOMY AND COMPORT IN BUILDING. These can only be studied and secured by paying proper attention to the finishing of a building. There are many houses in our country whose windows, withou glass, and heavy wooden shutters, cost more than sush and venetians, and whose gloomy wooden stilling are accountry. ceilings are more expensive than white washed plaster on lathe. If you are going to build, and wish your house to be com-fortable at small cost, you should not fail to write for a plan and estimate of finishing to Mr. P. P. Tosle, Charleston, S. C., the largest manufacturer of doors sashes blinds, mouldings, &c., in the Southern States.
